

IMAGINARY FUTURES

From Thinking Machines to the Global Village

www.imaginaryfutures.net

Dr. RICHARD BARBROOK

*Spring 2007 sees the debut of an important new work of literature from Dr. Richard Barbrook, on offer from Pluto Press. His book Imaginary Futures traces the political history of the Internet, demonstrates how politics influenced the way this powerful tool is controlled today and calls upon the new, cyber-savvy generation of youth to use the Internet for taking revolutionary politics into their own hands, to create a more positive future.*

We hope you will take interest in coverage of Imaginary Futures and plan to attend the book launch event on Wednesday, 16 May, in London.

BOOK DETAILS

Imaginary Futures: From Thinking Machines to The Global Village
By Richard Barbrook
www.imaginaryfutures.net

Presenting a radical message to all who use the Internet and contemplate positive political change – we must invent new futures.

Available from Pluto Press in May 2007
Order copies at: www.plutobooks.com
£16.99 GBP – $26.95 USD

PRESS PREVIEW AND BOOK LAUNCH PARTY DETAILS

DATE 16 May 2007-03-22
PRESS PREVIEW 4 – 7 pm
BOOK LAUNCH PARTY 7 – 9 pm
AFTER PARTY 9 pm – 2 am
VENUE Madame JoJos
www.madamejojoes.com
8-10 Brewer Street, London, W1F 0SE

To reserve your advanced copy for review and coverage (advanced copies for press to be released in April) and to RSVP for the Imaginary Futures Press Preview & Book Launch Party, contact:

PRESS CONTACT

Lisa Devaney
Imaginary Futures PR
M (+44) 07711238173
lisa@imaginaryfutures.net

Barbrook will speak during the press preview and present visuals. He will be joined by Simon Schaffer, Cambridge University Professor and BBC4 presenter, who will give an introduction and overview of Imaginary Futures. Members of the press will have opportunity to meet the author during the evening, and are welcome to stay for the after party. Late night entertainment will feature legendary Chicago house performer Robert Owens and DJs Keith Franklin and Ray Stanley.

PLUTO PRESS
London · Ann Arbor, MI
www.plutobooks.com